Board plans to cut 6 teaching positions

Further cuts totaling $1 million needed over next 3 years to avoid 'iceberg' of insolvency

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — Lincoln County's Board of Education has approved a tentative plan to save $270,000 next school year by cutting the equivalent of six full-time teacher positions.

The move is the first step in a larger plan to cut $500,000 from next year's budget and a total of $1 million from the budget over the next three years, Superintendent Karen Hatter said.

The cuts are necessitated by simple math — the district is going to run out of money if it continues to spend at its current levels, Hatter said.

"We're three to four years out … based on our district auditor's interpretations of our finances," she said. "He said we're three to four years out from not generating enough revenue to pay our expenses, from not having enough money in the bank … you can't spend more than you make."

Board members approved unanimously Tuesday night a new district staffing allocation formula and staffing

Lincoln representatives propose wide variety of legislation in 2013

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

FRANKFORT — Legislation supported by Lincoln County's elected representatives in this year's general session covers a wide variety of topics, from drugs to miscarriages to telephones to funeral directors.

Rep. David Meade, R-Stanford, has already had one bill he co-sponsors signed into law by Gov. Steve Beshear.

House Bill 7 gave permission to state universities to move forward with funding for millions in capital expansion projects.

Meade said the bill's creators were looking for "as much support as they could get" and he decided it was important for him to support it because so many of his constituents attend Eastern Kentucky University and the University of Kentucky.

"That was a pretty easy one (to get passed)," Meade said. "Because everyone was going to be for it."

At the signing of House Bill 7 on Feb. 21, Beshear said the state universities have already identified existing sources of funding for their expansion projects, meaning the bill won't cost taxpayers anything directly.

Meade is also co-sponsoring a bill with personal meaning to him.

House Bill 127, known as the Early Fetal Death Certificate Bill, would create the ability to apply for and receive a death certificate from the state in cases where

Man faces porn charges

STANFORD — A Lincoln County man accused of distributing pornographic electronic images to a minor was arrested Feb. 20.

Lincoln County Sheriff's Office reported to 885 Goshen Road, Lot 58, and arrested David Alsman, 46, on a Kenton County warrant.

Alsman

The warrant said an investigation that started in 2010 revealed Alsman allegedly had sent more than 85 pornographic emails to what he thought was a 14-year-old girl, according to a press release.

Police said the emails contained 44 images and 40 videos of adult pornographic scenes, and 15 images of Alsman.

Alsman was charged with prohibited use of electronic communication system to procure a minor/sex offense.

Four arrested for manufacturing methamphetamine

CRAB ORCHARD — A meth bust Friday afternoon provided Stanford firefighters with one of their first chances to use a hazardous materials response vehicle since they recently reacquired it from Lincoln County.

Three Crab Orchard residents and a Brodhead resident were arrested Friday after Lincoln County Sheriff Curt Folger responded to a report of a possible meth lab along Schrock Avenue, north of Crab Orchard.

Crab Orchard residents Christopher Leo Young, 26, Brian Haight, 37, and Brittany Payne, 23, were charged with manufacturing methamphetamine, unlawful possession of a methamphetamine precursor and wanton endangerment.

Brodhead resident Ricky Hale Jr., 30, faces the same charges, as well as charges from previous warrants for receiving stolen property, trafficking in a controlled substance and failure to appear.

All four were lodged in

IJ OPINION

Still much to do during this general assembly

Jared Carpenter
State Senator

This session of the General Assembly is halfway over. Even so, I am happy to still receive visitors such as the great group of 4H kids who came by this week. Legislatively, many of the priority bills we have passed in the Senate now await action in the House. There are several outstanding issues in the Senate that we continue to work on in our remaining time in Frankfort.

As I have said before, defending the Second Amendment is very important to me. I am pleased SB 129, which prohibits the enforcement of unconstitutional federal bans or restrictions on ownership of semi-automatic firearms or gun registration measures in Kentucky, passed out of committee. This measure, which I was proud to introduce, now goes to the Senate floor.

The United States Supreme Court, as recently as 2010, has upheld that the Second Amendment protects individuals' right to keep and bear arms. Actions by the federal government to attack this right would not be in accordance with the Constitution. That is why SB 129 is so important- it protects Kentuckians' right to gun ownership from overreaching federal actions. It will also send a strong message to Washington that our guns are not up for grabs.

Recently, an overwhelming number of deaths have been resulting in Kentucky from heroin overdoses. Senate Bill 6 allows dealers of highly-addictive Schedule I drugs such as heroin, meth, and cocaine to be charged with criminal homicide in the event of a drug-overdose death, even if they didn't sell the drug directly to the deceased. SB 6 passed the Senate and now awaits action in the House.

The Senate passed House Bill 7, a bill authorizing university bonding projects. Universities will use their own bonds at no cost to Kentucky's General Fund to renovate or build 11 critically-needed buildings. These creative building proposals not only enhance the quality of higher education in our state but also will be providing needed construction jobs. I congratulate the universities for defining a specific project list and developing a business plan with a dedicated revenue stream. It is the right approach especially after the Senate added language that these projects could not be subsidized with tuition increases. Incidentally, HB 7 will be the first bill to pass both chambers.

Increasing access to non-emergency medical transportation for our most vulnerable is the intent of Senate Bill 112. This bill will increase competition among providers which hopefully will bring the costs down for those who need the service. It would also represent a significant savings to tax-payers to coordinate transportation as well because Medicaid dollars are used.

Senate Bill 39 and Senate Bill 40 both passed the Senate. SB 39 states that any expansion of Medicaid eligibility under President Obama's Affordable Care Act must be approved by the General Assembly. Similarly, SB 40 directs that the General Assembly must approve any state-run health benefit exchanges under the Affordable Care Act. I believe that policies that have such state-wide impact and are attached to such great costs should simply not be decided by one individual without the benefit of open, transparent debate. While I have my own feelings about the value of expanding government services without having a way to pay for them, this is not about me or my opinion. This is about giving true deliberation to policies that will dramatically affect how your government operates and costs and including as many people as possible in that decision. The Governor was never supposed to have a blank check to do with what he wants.

The Senate also passed bills directed at gifted students as well as those who are struggling in the traditional academic environment. Senate Bill 109 allows high-school students who are taking Advanced Placement or similar certified college credit classes to access their KEES funds early in order to pay for them. Senate Bill 97 allows local school districts to adopt a policy requiring students to stay in school until age 18, or graduation whichever comes first, with the understanding that they would have to offer an approved alternative education program that would help meet the needs of students most likely to drop out. Local districts are best equipped to understand what kind of supports they have or can offer and that decision should not belong to a Frankfort bureaucrat. With this bill, educators are better prepared and at-risk students do not distract from the traditional educational process.

Even though time is running out on this session, time is never running out on you voicing your opinion. There are several ways to contact me: my toll-free number is 1-800-372-7181 and online, I and the work of the Legislature, can be accessed viawww.lrc.ky.gov.

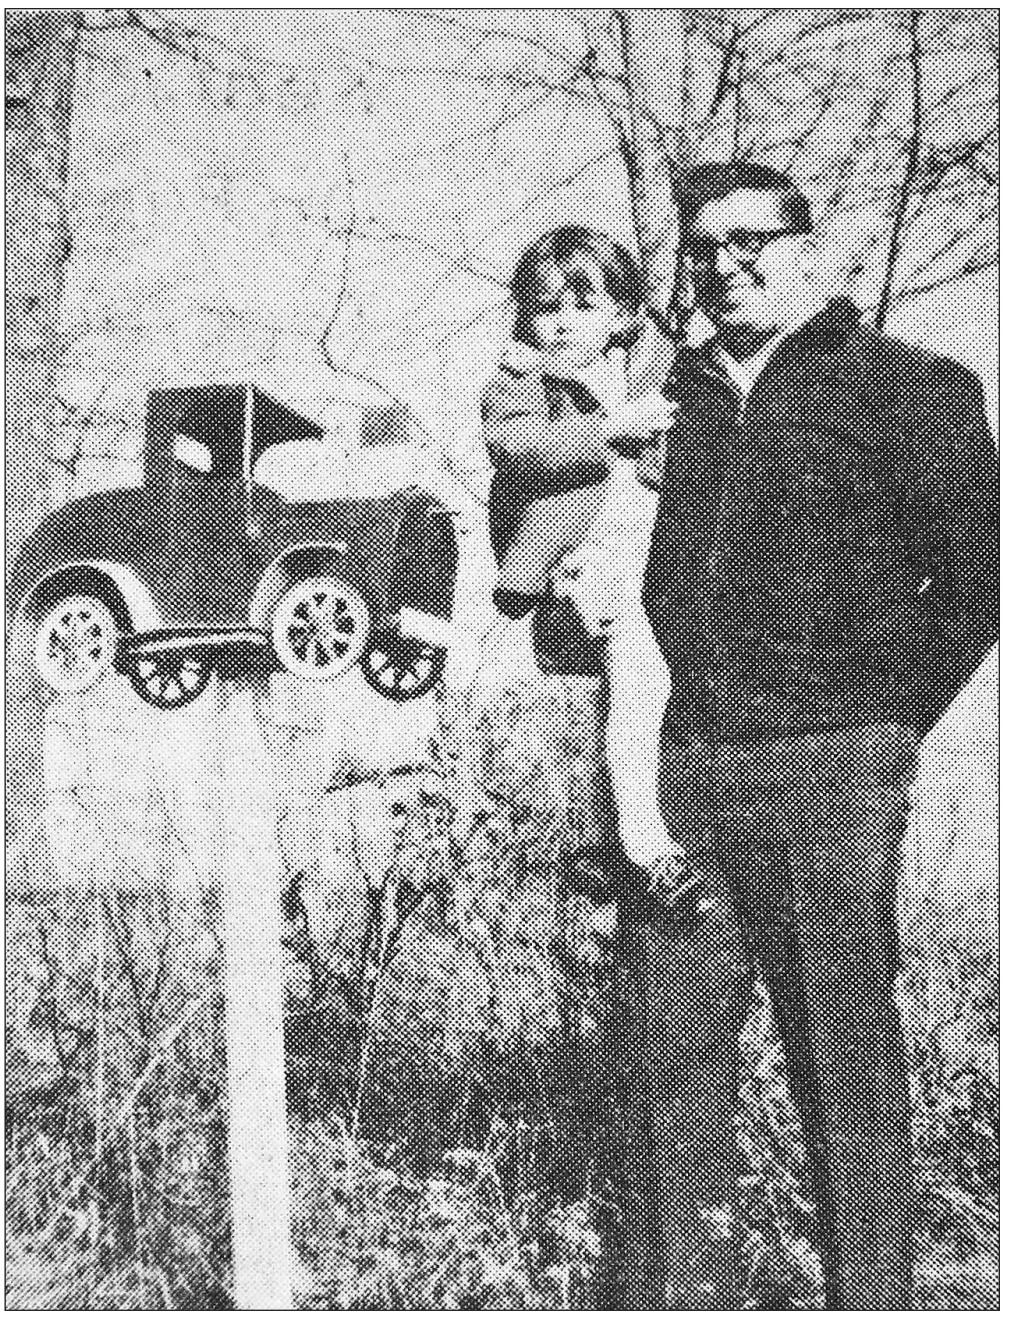
Looking back at what made news in Lincoln County



Feb. 22, 1973 — THE IJ MAILBOX OF THE WEEK belongs to John McKinney, Parlor Grove Road, Waynesburg Route 1. He says he used Sam Meade's blueprints, only made his box a little smaller than Sam's. John who is holding daughter, Amanda Jo, took welding under Sam at Somerset vocational school and now works at White-House Humphrey, Danville.

About 40 years ago, the IJ had a unique weekly feature going — an "IJ Mailbox of the Week."

Sadly, mailboxes aren't much in style any more. A similar feature today could be the "Email Inbox of the Week," but it wouldn't be nearly as interesting.

Reproduced here are two "MoW" winners, one from March 1, 1973, and one from Feb. 22, 1973.

Lawmakers trying to 'delay and deny' pension reform

David Meade
State Representative

The Kentucky General Assembly passed the halfway point of the 2013 Legislative Session this past week, yet several major issues are left to be resolved.

On Thursday the House State Government Committee heard testimony on Senate Bill 2, which deals with much needed reforms to our state and local government public pension systems. However the committee only discussed the proposal, and didn't vote to pass it out of committee.

Each day we wait to take action on our public pension system, which has an unfunded liability of more than $33 billion and continues to grow, the deeper the hole we dig for our Commonwealth. In addition one of the other major issues Kentucky must address, comprehensive tax reform, won't be addressed during this session.

It is troubling that some continue to allow these problems to grow and fester in our Commonwealth because of a lack of leadership. We must stop this tactic of delay and deny, and we owe it to you as your representatives to address these issues immediately.

Despite the continued delay, we did get several bills passed over the week. The first bill to gain approval from both the House and Senate was House Bill 7, which authorizes the issuance of bonds to pay for construction and renovation projects at most of Kentucky's public universities. The one change to the original bill was to ban the schools from raising tuition to pay for construction and renovation of the 11 authorized projects, which include a major renovation of Commonwealth Stadium at the University of Kentucky, and academic buildings and dorms at other colleges.

Another bill that gained approval this past week is one that will be beneficial to Kentucky's agricultural industry. House Bill 273, sponsored by Representative Bart Rowland of Tompkinsville and a host of House Republicans and Democrats, would allow the operation of mini-trucks on Kentucky's public highways. The proposal treats mini-trucks the same as ATV's, and would allow farmers to drive on roadways for short distances to transport supplies from one farm to another.

With two weeks to go, bills dealing with human trafficking, allowing farmers to grow industrial hemp in Kentucky, and now redistricting in the House remain to be addressed. It appears the end of the 2013 session may only be the beginning to addressing these and other major issues mentioned before the close of this year.

I welcome your comments and concerns for the upcoming session. I can be reached through the toll-free message line in Frankfort at 1-800-372-7181, or you can contact me via e-mail at david.meade@lrc.ky.gov. You can keep track of legislation for the 2013 session through the Kentucky Legislature Home Page at www.lrc.ky.gov.

An encouraging word
Kind words are powerful

By Howard Coop

It may have been a cold day in February, but it was a bright day for me. I was four years old, and about noon, I saw a man in a buggy coming around the ridge. The mail carrier was delivering the mail. In a moment, he stopped at our mailbox and placed some mail in it. When my mother went to the box to get the mail, there was a real surprise for me. She found an envelope in the mailbox that had my name on it. That was the first time I had ever received a letter addressed to me, and that was a special moment.

On a special occasion, my aunt remembered me and sent a card to me on which she wrote that she loved me. I was truly excited and showed it. I knew someone cared about me, and that was even more special.

Words, written or spoken, are powerful. Blaise Pascal, a seventeenth century French philosopher, wrote, "Kind words do not cost much. They never blister the tongue or lips. Though they do not cost much, they accomplish much." And they do accomplish much. They are capable of producing deep-felt emotion in the human heart, altering human situations, and they can change life.

Not only do kind words cost little, but also at all times there is plenty of opportunity to use them. The proper response to a good deed whenever it occurs is a word of genuine gratitude, and a sincere word of congratulation is the appropriate response to someone's achievement. Likewise, when someone is downhearted, it always is in order to give that person a loving pat on the back and an encouraging word that lifts the spirit. Kind words are appropriate at any time and in all circumstances.

As far back as three thousand years ago, it had already become proverbial that "a word spoken at the right time is like gold apples on a tray of silver." So, speak kind words often.

Bertie Jeffries, 100

Bertie Jeffries, 100, of Hustonville, died Saturday, Feb. 23.

Born Sept. 27, 1912, Bertie was a daughter of the late Allen and Ida Coffman Murphy. She was a member of Mt. Salem Baptist Church for 85 years where she taught women's Sunday school and was the widow of Irvin "Red" Jeffries.

Survivors include a son, Samuel Glenn (Della) Jeffries; three grandchildren, Jennifer Lee Jeffries of Liberty, Samuel Alan (Tracy) Jeffries of Lexington and Shannon (Natalie) Cooley of Elizabethtown; and four great grandchildren, Jenna Bender, Derek Sallee and Emily and Reid Jeffries.

Funeral services were Feb. 27 at W.L. Pruitt Funeral Home. Burial was in Middleburg Cemetery.

Kevin Dwayne Mitchell, 33

Kevin Dwayne Mitchell, 33, of Stanford, passed away Monday, Feb. 18, in Lexington.

Born Friday, Dec. 28, 1979, in Lexington, Kevin was the son of Debbie Roll Mitchell of Stanford and Samuel Davis Mitchell of Seymour, Ind.

Other survivors include two sons, Samuel Strevel and Justice Stockton both of Somerset; one brother, Eric Mitchell of Stearns; and one sister, Jennifer Mitchell of Stanford.

Visitation was Feb. 23, at Fox Funeral Home in Stanford.

Cremation rites were honored.

Memorial contributions suggested to Fox Funeral Home to offset funeral expenses.

Mildred Coffman Reed, 82

Mildred Coffman Reed, 82, of the Rocky Ford Community in Casey County died Monday, Feb. 18.

Born Aug. 2, 1930, Mildred was a daughter of the late Leslie and Agnes Coffman Coffman. She was a retired elementary teacher - beginning in a one room school and ending at Cox Elementary in Casey County. Mildred was a poet and a member of Hustonville Baptist Church.

Survivors include a nephew, (Ret.) Col. Robert D. (Elaine) Coffman, Jr.; great nephew and niece, Jeremy and Caitlin; aunt, Maxine Riley; a special cousin, Elmer "Shorty" Coffman; and several other cousins.

Funeral services were Feb. 21 at W. L. Pruitt Funeral Home. Burial was in Hustonville Cemetery.

Stidham recognized for 50 years in the ministry

Henry C. "Bud" Stidham was recently recognized for serving in the ministry for 50 years.

He was called to preach on Feb. 24, 1963. His first sermon was given on Feb. 27, 1963 at Community Bible Baptist Church in Veedersburg, Ind. The title of the sermon was I Am the Life, John 14:6.

Henry has pastored 10 churches in six different states including Georgia, West Virginia, Ohio, Virginia and Kentucky. He has been pastoring at Blue Lick Baptist Church in Stanford for the past two years.

"Bud" was born Jan. 18, 1941 in Big Stone Gap, Va. He was saved at the age of 18 in 1959. Pastor Roy Julian from Indianapolis, Ind., baptized him and inspired him to become a preacher.

Bud married his loving wife of 51 years, Peggy, on Nov. 11, 1961. They had three children, a daughter, Cynthia (Ben) Hayward, a son, John (Debbie) Stidham and a daughter who passed away at a young age. They also have a granddaughter, Daniela Stidham.

Lola Hubbard's great-granddaughter, Reagan Weiskircher has just returned from a mission trip to Honduras. A total of eight students and three adults were present on this trip which lasted for one week. While there, both students and adults worked with the homeless shelter, the schools, and many other things. It was a very successful trip and was both heartwarming and so very touching to the heart. Reagan is the granddaughter of Rita Hazlett, and the daughter of Tracy Weiskircher. Good job Reagan.

Last Thursday night Evelyn Terry called and invited me to come over to her house and visit with her guests. Evelyn's sister Ethelene Johnson and her two daughters Janet and Brenda all from Ohio, Evelyn's brother William Jenkins and his wife Sue from Nicholasville, Evelyn's daughter Connie and her husband Carl, Lorraine McKinney and myself were there. Even though it was sleeting during this time, we all sat and talked for quite awhile. I enjoyed the talking about old times and visiting and laughing with everyone more than I can say. I remember when I was a kid people would spend time visiting with friends and family on a weekly basis. I wish we all could do more of this kind of thing!!

We want to wish a belated Happy Birthday greeting to Nellie Philippe. She is an inspiration to all of us.

News from Ottenheim area

By Dorothea Schlappi

Our sympathy goes out to the Richard Lane family who passed away last week. He was the father of Danielle (Lane) Bratcher, wife of Andy Bratcher. We are thinking of you at this time.

Congratulations to Grace and Stephen Schuler on the birth of their baby girl, Madelyn Emma on Feb. 12, 2013. She also joins her older sister Sophie. May she have a long happy life with her family.

We want to let the Christine (Dowell) Roberts family know we are thinking of them at this time, of her passing last week. Especially to Dorothy (Joe) Morhinners who was her sister. May she and her family be at peace with our heavenly father.

We extend our sorrow at the death of Mark Neacy who passed away. He was kin to the Schulers that live around her.

To the Feldman family at the death of Bessie Stamper who passed away last week. She was the foster child of Barbara (Schlappi) and Isidore Feldman. We extend our heartfelt thoughts and prayers.

So many people are passing through this life, seems spring and fall show an increase in deaths. The Lord is the only one who knows when our time is up, let us be ready when he calls.

Mark, Kristi and little Beth Tucker of Lexington were visitors of Dorothy, Amanda and Bill Tucker over the weekend. They also attended church services Sunday, Feb. 24. It is always good to see visitors.

The robins are back, they can be seen hopping around. The little frogs have been out for sometime, as are the geese. It's so good to see all the wildlife, so many are disappearing.

From the letters and calls I have been getting, it's nice to know someone enjoys reading the local news when I can get it.

A person travels the world over in search of what we need, only to return home to find it. God be with you this week.

Happy Anniversary

Preventing high blood pressure is important

By Charles Crase, M.D.

With the observance of February as American Heart Month, it's a good time to focus on how lifestyle affects an individual's heart and risks for heart disease. A healthy heart begins with a healthy lifestyle.

Heart disease is the leading cause of death among Americans. High blood pressure, which affects one in three adults in the United States, is one of the factors that increase an individual's risk for heart disease. High blood pressure causes an individual's heart to work too hard. It can also cause other conditions such as congestive heart failure, kidney disease and blindness.

Health care professionals typically classify blood pressure as high when it is consistently 140/90 mmHg or higher. Individuals are said to be pre-hypertensive when their blood pressure is between 120-139 mmHg systolic (the top number in blood pressure readings) or 80-89 mmHg diastolic (the bottom number). This means that the blood pressure indicates they are likely to develop high blood pressure in the future unless they adopt healthy lifestyle changes.

To help individuals prevent high blood pressure, the following steps are offered:

•Follow a healthy eating plan, including limiting your intake of saturated fats and cholesterol while eating a variety of fruits, vegetables and grain products.

•Maintain a healthy weight, and lose weight if you are overweight for your height.

•Stay physically active, engaging in a minimum of 30 minutes of exercise on most days of the week.

•Drink alcohol in moderation and don't smoke cigarettes or use other tobacco products.

•Limit the amount of sodium consumed to less than one teaspoon, or 1,500 milligrams, in a day.

Dr. Charles Crase is a family medicine physician who practices at Immediate Care at Stanford Medical Park. He can be contacted at (606)365-3360.

News from Pleasant View Baptist Church

By Scena Ann Petrey

Worship services began with a beautiful, uplifting blend of praise songs and traditional songs on Sunday, Feb. 24.

Bro. Kyle's message came from John 3:1-13 and was named "Being Born Again." In this passage Nicodemus came to Jesus to ask questions about religion. Nicodemus, a very religious man, was a Pharisee. Not only was he a Pharisee, but he was a leading Pharisee and a noted teacher of the Old Testament. He was probably shocked to hear Jesus say, "You must be born again."

The message contained five truths about "being born again." Bro. Kyle answered the first question - what does it mean to be born again? - by saying you must be born of the water and the spirit.

Being born again is not the same as being religious was the second point of the message. We are naturally born sinners, and too often we try to earn acceptance from God by trying to do good works. While externally we may think we are doing enough, we have to change internally. As Bro. Kyle said, "We have to have a heart transplant."

Being born again is not the same as being born to a Christian family. Being born again is a spiritual change in each person's life. We all have to personally make this move or decision.

Being born again is something the Holy Spirit must do. Too often, we like to be in the driver's seat of our lives. However, we cannot do this when being saved; we cannot control the Holy Spirit which convicts us of our sins.

The last point of the message was being born again is a radical change in the human heart. We don't have all the answers; we need the help of the Holy Spirit. Being born again is a complete denial to self and a complete turning over of heart to God.

At the conclusion of the message, Joseph, Faith, Wyatt, Bethanie, and Jesse Hampton joined our church by letter from a church in Arizona. We welcome them into our church family.

We extend sympathy and prayers to Harold Denson whose cousin Christine Dowell passed away last week.

A change in date and place - The Women of Joy Conference will be in Louisville on April 5-7. Contact Elisha Lawrence for more information.

On March 8, 9 and 10, we will be holding a church-wide revival. Bro. Scott Kerry, pastor of Valley Creek Church outside Elizabethtown, will be the evangelist. Josh Brown, worship pastor of Valley Creek, will be our worship leader. Make plans to attend as you pray for the success of this revival. Friday and Saturday services will begin at 7 p.m. and Sunday services will begin at 6:30 p.m. On March 10 (the last night of the revival), there will be a special youth focus.

On Monday night, March 4, we will have a special time of prayer for the revival at Pleasant View Baptist Church for the Waynesburg area members and the Lincoln County Baptist Association Building for the Stanford area members. Both of these prayer groups will meet at 6:30 p.m.

Watoto, a holistic care program initiated to serve the dire needs of Africa and her people, is thrilled to present a brand new choir tour entitled "Beautiful Africa: A New Generation". Through the concert of hope, the choir presents the message of the transforming power of Christ. All the children in the choir have lost one or both of their parents and live in Watoto children's villages. This choir will be leading us in worship on Good Friday, March 29. Come join us!

Anyone who would like to be part of the Pleasant View Relay for Life team, please contact Pam Smith. The relay for life will be June 7.

Congratulations Noah Young who made the state all-tournament team for the state tournament in Lexington last week. Their team was runner-up in the state.

Congratulations to the Lincoln County girl's basketball team on winning the District championship. Congratulations to the Lincoln County boy's basketball team on placing as runner-up in the District.

The next camp payment of $75 is due April 28. See Stacy Story for more information.

Thought for the week: "Don't be afraid of tomorrow because God is already there."

Fairview Baptist Church news

By Shelby Lakes

On Sunday, Fairview had a special building project service. Property for a new church building has been donated, and is located at the top of Hall Gap hill on the west side of US 27.

Bro. Johnny Baker said the new church would not be for bragging about, but it epitomizes the grace of God and gives us a better ability to serve Jesus Christ. He said that now, visitors come once and don't return because they have to search for seats. We also need a place for youth to play Upward Bound sports, more dining space, and space for other events. He said we should not become content where we are, or become attached to a building, and "When a church stops growing, it will someday begin to die."

Bros. Danie (Jr.) Rice and Keith Young, members of the building committee, presented architectural slides and updated the congregation on the building process. The church currently has $85,540.05 in the building fund, and needs an additional $6,577.45 to complete phase 1 (excavation).

Bro. Johnny then announced that on the last Sunday of each month there will be a special offering, and the fund-raising committee will have events, both to benefit the building fund.

Bro. Johnny then quoted passages in Exodus in which the people gave with a willing heart in many different ways to build a tabernacle. "It is a privilege to build for God," he said. "The church we are to build is not only for your spiritual life, but your children's and grandchildren." (end of sermon summary)

121 attended Sunday school. 168 were present for the worship service.

Note: Please visit www.fairviewbc.org to see this message and to keep up with events at Fairview Baptist Church. More will be added to the website soon, including more information on missions and the anticipated new church construction.

Green River Pentecostal Church news

Written by Hannah Walls on behalf of Sis. Georgia Lewis

" A blessing, if ye obey the commandments of the LORD your God, which I command you this day:" Deut. 11:27. If you are seeking a blessing from The Lord, know that the key is to obey His commandments. Obey His word and enjoy His goodness.

"Fireproof" was an amazing movie this past Saturday. Thank you to everyone who worked so hard to make the evening possible. Stay tuned for our next movie night.

Just a note concerning Wednesday night, all Wednesday night services will be held across the street at the fellowship hall. This is due to our remodeling process and is expected to progress right along. This will not change the work God has planned for us, He is a mighty God, and an on time God - we just need to meet in one mind and one accord. So come on out Wednesday nights at 7:00 p.m.

Sunday services are at 10:30 a.m. and the evening service is at 6:00 p.m.

On March 22-23 the youth are heading to the youth conference at CFC, Bro. Tommy Bates' church.

Please be in prayer for those who are sick, we serve a healing God. Please help us pray for our community, church, leaders and our country. As always, let us continue to pray for Israel.

Think about this: "1 I waited patiently for the LORD; and he inclined unto me, and heard my cry.

2 He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings.

3 And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God: many shall see it, and fear, and shall trust in the LORD." Psalms 40:1-3

When you feel stuck in the pit trust The Lord, He will put a new song in your heart, and set your feet out of the pit and on a rock! The solid foundation replaces the muck when you submit your trials to God! Be firm in The Lord!

Stanford Nazarene Church news

By Buford Edwards II

Sunday morning, Stanford Church of the Nazarene was blessed by the wonderful worship service as we raised our voices to praise the Lord and learn from His Word at Sunday school and our morning worship service. Bro. Buford brought the message from James 2 on the subject of "Why Do We Do What We Do?" Immediately following our morning service we gathered at the fellowship hall for a special baptismal service! Congratulations to Kristian Silverthorn for following in the Savior's footsteps with baptism!

On Sunday night, we met as a church family for "Open Mic Night," and the Word as Bro. Buford shared from Rev. 19 and 22 on the subject of "Worshipping God."

Come out Wednesday night for Christian Education Night. Our kids meet weekly and our adult class dubbed, "THE BOOK" club is currently working through the book of Revelation. We are in chapter 22 concerning the "End of the Prophesy."

The Jail Ministry meets every Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and the Nursing Home Ministry the first Tuesday of each month at 2 p.m. For more information, or to learn how to get involved, contact the church and leave a message.

The ladies meet the first Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Their next regular meeting will be Tuesday, March 5.

We are planning a trip to Winter Jam in Lexington on Saturday, March 16. This event is for youth ages 12 and over. All youth will need a permission slip and spending money. If you have a youth that is interested, contact Bro. Buford as soon as possible!

Mark your calendars! As part of our Easter 2013 celebration, we will be having a Sunrise Service. The final details have not been set, but we will be having Sunrise services, Sunday school, and morning worship, but our evening services will be cancelled.

The Men's Group meets every other month on the second Monday of the month. The next meeting is Monday, April 8 at 7 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

The church has an active food assistance program. If you know of anyone or have a need yourself, leave a message at the church.

Service times: Sunday school starts at 10 a.m., Sunday morning worship begins at 11 a.m., Sunday evening services at 6 p.m., and Christian Education Night is every Wednesday beginning at 7 p.m.

For more information about our youth group and children's programs, email the directors by logging on to our website at www.stanfordchurchofthenazarene.com

If you would like more information about our church and events, contact Pastor Buford Edwards at (606) 365-1260 or visit us on the web. Don't forget to also "like" the Stanford Church of the Nazarene on Facebook to receive updates and an encouraging word.

CASA volunteer training scheduled to begin April 9

CASA at Woodlawn is hosting a Volunteer Advocate Training that consists of court observation, in-class sessions and brief homework. Training for April's session will begin at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, April 9 at the CASA at Woodlawn office. For directions or additional information, please call Jessica Johnson with CASA at Woodlawn at (859) 936-3546.

In 2012 CASA at Woodlawn advocated for 182 individual child victims, and assisted in closing cases and finding permanency for 72 children-ensuring that they have a safe and permanent home. The disheartening news is that there are still nearly 200 children waiting for a CASA in Boyle and Mercer Counties.

CASA at Woodlawn volunteers are appointed by Honorable Bruce Petrie, Family Court Judge for the 50th Judicial Circuit. They speak for the best interests of children in Boyle and Mercer counties who are brought before the court for reasons of abuse, neglect, or dependency.

Last year, 72 of your neighbors, co-workers, friends and family members decided that it is the undeniable human right of every child to grow in a safe and nurturing home and they took the next step — to speak for those children by becoming volunteer advocates.

CASA volunteers serve as friends of the court, working alongside attorneys and social workers. By handling only one or two cases at a time, the CASA thoroughly explores the history of each assigned case.

The volunteer talks with the child, parents, family members, neighbors, school officials, doctors and others involved in the child's background who might have facts about the case.

The volunteer reviews all court facts and documents pertaining to the case. He or she then is expected to submit formal reports to Judge Petrie at every scheduled hearing.

The CASA volunteer continues to monitor the case to assure that the judicial and child welfare systems are moving ahead to secure a safe, permanent home for the child, and that court-ordered services are provided to the child and family.

CASA at Woodlawn has now served this community for eightyears and has grown to 72 fully trained volunteers who help close cases every year.

Closing a case means a child has been successfully reunified with family members or has been placed in a safe, secure and permanent home, not languishing in a long-term foster care or treatment facility.

Become a CASA volunteer and join our volunteers in changing the life of a child. CASA at Woodlawn is a Heart of Kentucky United Way partner.

For more information, email jessica@casaatwoodlawn.org or visit www.casaatwoodlawn.com.

Lincoln County to get emergency road aid funds

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet announced that the Lincoln County Fiscal Court will receive $13,000 in County Road Aid emergency funds.

This money will be used for slip or slide repairs on Sims Branch Road, making it safer for cars, school buses and other vehicles that rely upon the roadway.

"These emergency funds are being used to repair roadways and to improve safety and mobility in Lincoln County," said Transportation Secretary Mike Hancock. "This project is one example of the cabinet's commitment to providing a solid infrastructure in Lincoln County and all across the Commonwealth."

The Lincoln County Fiscal Court is responsible for administering the work.

Educational Fund receives award

A nonprofit that helps make postsecondary education possible for Lincoln County students is celebrating its 10th anniversary this year – and celebrating being named the Kentucky School Boards Association's 2013 Friend of Education.

The award was presented on Feb. 22, to the Lincoln County Educational Fund, Inc., during KSBA's annual conference in Louisville. The award, established in 1988, recognizes an individual, business or civic organization's commitment to public elementary and secondary education.

The Lincoln County Educational Fund, Inc. provides financial aid and encouragement to students who want to pursue postsecondary education. It supports students who otherwise would not have the means to continue their education past high school. Many of them, in fact, are the first in their families to go to college.

The role of the Fund is to fill the gap for many students for whom regular financial aid and other scholarships don't stretch quite far enough. As the Lincoln County School Board noted in nominating the Fund, "Existing financial aid and scholarship programs fail to meet the needs of many who aspire to higher education."

This academic year, the Fund is supporting 12 Lincoln County High School graduates for their freshman year; 12 sophomores, seven juniors and two seniors also currently receive financial assistance. Three recipients have gone on to graduate from college. Awards totaling $50,000 were budgeted for 2012-13 and $42,000 in financial assistance was distributed in 2011-12. Typical first-year scholarships are $1,500 with renewal years based on need.

The financial aid, which is good toward college, university or technical school, is given based on outstanding character and not grade point averages and test scores. As the nomination noted, "This program permits students with average grades to compete equally with those having higher grades."

The Lincoln County Educational Fund, Inc., has roots in both alumni and community. It was incorporated in 2003 by a group of alumni who were concerned about the ability of deserving graduates to go to college. Community members participate by sharing their resources in support of these students.

"Our students and our community benefit from the vision of those founding organizers and officers of the fund," the school board and Superintendent Karen Hatter said in their nomination.

Stanford Star Search to begin March 7

Stanford Star Search, replacing the Lincoln County Idol, will be held March 7 through April 25 at the First Southern Community Art Center, 213 Depot Street Stanford. The contest is sponsored by Blue Bird Café, Kentucky Soaps and Such, and Wilderness Road Guest Houses.

17 different acts will take the stage Thursday, March 7 for this year's vocal competition, and it promises to be better than ever. We have contestants, from the age of eight to 53, ready to entertain you. Duets were added to the line-up this year and five made the cut.

Everyone that pays the $5 admission charge will receive a great show and one vote for their favorite contestant. This year there will be no on-line votes. The first three weeks, three acts will be eliminated and then for the remaining shows, two will be eliminated each week.

Judges will be allowed 50 combined votes, up until the final two weeks and then it will be strictly in-house votes.

Each week we will have a different theme; all remaining contestants will be expected to learn a song for that week.

March 7: Contestants choice

March 21: Year of contestant's birth

April 4: Spring break- no show

March 14: Country

March 2: Motown/Disco

April 18: Elvis/Beetles

April 25: Two remaining contestants will perform their choice of songs.

Prizes this year are: First place, $600; second place, $250; and third place, $150.

Each show will start at 7 p.m. and last between, one and half and two hours with a short intermission. For additional entertainment, there will be guest performers. There will also be door prizes.

Come out and support the Stanford Art and Music program and vote for your favorite entertainers. Mark your Thursday evenings in your calendar for coming to downtown Stanford.

Award-winning author to visit Lincoln County Library

Award-winning author Ron Elliott will be at the library to speak about his new book, "American El Dorado: The Great Diamond Hoax of 1872" at 6:30 p.m. March 19.

About the book: Long before Charles Ponzi attached his name to the word "scheme" and a hundred years before Bernie Madoff mastered the investment con, Kentuckian Phiip Arnold put together a plan which, like none before, would bilk rich (and greedy) investors using a technique entirely befitting America's still-wild west.

Not content with simply swindling some of the country's brightest luminaries, politicians and high-profile celebrities of the day, Arnold did so in grand style, making himself and his story the subject of nationwide headlines.

In the years following the discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill in 1848, which led to the California Gold Rush and Nevada's silver Comstock Lode in 1859, the largely unexplored American West was prime territory for the next discovery of untold treasure.

So, in 1872 when news of a newly found diamond mine swept the nation, many people were eager to join in the quest for fortune.

Award winning author Ron Elliott takes the reader behind the scenes of this little known and almost-too-fantastic to be true scam, reveals how a fake diamond mine induced investors to heap a fortune on its perpetrator and describes his enviable downfall.

Family Worship Center news

By Aline Matlock

We were glad to see some people back in church that have been sick. There are some who still need our prayers. Sis. Barbara Martin in the nursing home in Somerset would like to have someone to visit her or send a card to Cumberland Rehabilitation Center, 200 Norfleet Drive, Somerset, KY 42501. We are asking and expecting God to answer our many prayer requests for those in the hospital, nursing home and some at home. We need to lift each other up that are not able to be here. God is still our healer!

The church will have a dinner on Sunday, March 3 right after the morning worship service. Sunday morning worship is at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. and Sunday evening at 6 p.m.

We have a food pantry for anyone that is need of food. Call 365-2257 to make an appointment to receive food. The pantry is in need of canned goods, boxed items and etc.

Bro. Gates' message on Feb. 24 was found in Luke 5:17. Jesus heals a man that was not able to walk on his own, he was brought to Jesus by some friends. The story was not an unusual one, because Jesus was known for His healing power. But what is unusual is how the man was put before the Lord. The crowd was so large, the man could not get through the door, and the men sought a way to get him to Jesus. We too have things that try to block our coming to Jesus. But like the men, they were determined to get the man where he could be healed. Our determination should be likewise. Satan would like to keep us away from the Lord, but God will always show us a way to undermine the devil. The men saw a way, they tore off part of the roof and let the man down. The man was not only healed, but His sins were forgiven.

God sometimes gives us a double portion like forgiveness, healing, grace and mercy. The man took up his bed and walked. Things that brought the change in the man's life were the men were determined to get the man Jesus, faith in the Lord and they cared enough to see the man healed.

Their faith was rewarded. We too will see God move in our lives if we have what they had. Faith to believe and caring enough to do what had to be done. These men had to tear away the roof top, but the desire to see their friend healed, was greater than the job. They could have been discouraged and given up hope but they were going to let nothing discourage them, like us, Satan may try to turn our mind against God, but remember God is greater! Doubt clouds our minds many time, but set your determination to see God more in your life. We need to press through our fears, doubts, discouragement until God has met our needs. Do not let things stop us from trusting the Lord to help us through trials and tests. God will see us through all things, is His promise. Let us always care enough for others, we will help any way we can. That's what brought the healing and salvation to the man.

If you are praying for someone to be healed or saved, let nothing detour your determination to see them saved or healed. Lift them up before the Lord, sharing God's love for them, caring enough for them, they will be blessed and so will you.

Notes from Sara Givens

By Sara Givens

Miss Angela Walker, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Walker, had brain surgery last week and is doing quite fine.

Mr. Denver Givens, a former resident of McKinney, is a patient at the Jewish Hospital in Louisville.

Mr. Mitchell Helm, son of Mrs. Yvonne Mucker, was taken to the U.K. Medical Center due to an apparent heart attack. He has been released and is doing better.

Mrs. Shelby Mitchell and daughter, Tanisha Mitchell of Florence, spent the weekend with Mrs. Sandra Hill.

Miss Latroya Garr of Louisville spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddward (Margaret) Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Joe Hocker of Nicholasville and Mr. Thomas Ray Hocker of Lexington, visited their sisters, Mrs. Jennette Napier, Miss Brenda Hocker, Miss Peggy Hocker, Miss Doris Hocker and their brother, Mr. George Hocker.

Rodger Martin, left, got to meet Michael Mitchell, NFL defensive back for the Oakland Raiders, on Saturday.

Mrs. Sarah Meads Barnes and daughters of Richmond visited the Gooch/Brown family on Sunday.

Mr. Rodger Martin of Casey County, a diehard Oakland Raiders fan, watched his dream come true as he learned that he was going to meet an Oakland Raiders player, Mr. Michael Mitchell (#34), a defensive back for the NFL Oakland Raiders team. On Saturday, Rodger actually got to meet Michael and got some pictures together and also some autographs. He and his father, Rodger Martin, Sr., have been diehard fans of the Raiders for years. Congratulations Rodger and happy birthday to your dad, Roger Sr.

Michael Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marie Mitchell of Florence and is connected with family and friends in Lincoln County (Boneyville).

Thought for the week: It brings so much joy to your heart when you do your best to make others happy.

BURGLARIES

taken into custody Monday morning in Garrard County.

Lincoln County Sheriff Curt Folger said one of his special deputies observed Stovall get into a taxi cab in Lancaster. The deputy called Folger to inform him and proceeded to follow the vehicle that was headed toward Stanford.

“(The cab) stopped and picked up Johnson between Stanford and Lancaster,” Folger said. “They turned and headed back toward Lexington.”

Folger contacted dispatch to alert Garrard County and Lancaster police of the situation, while the Lincoln County deputy continued to follow the cab.

Once Folger arrived in Garrard County, the cab was pulled over on U.S 27.

Stovall and Johnson were arrested and lodged in the Lincoln County Regional Jail. Both are charged with second-degree burglary, but other charges are pending from surrounding counties.

The third suspect, Billy Dale Roach, 32, of Indianapolis, Ind., is still at large. A vehicle was reported stolen in Stanford, and Folger said it is a “good possibility” Roach stole the vehicle and fled the county.

The three suspects are believed to have burglarized a Parksville country store, Old Bridge Golf Course in Danville, Hill of Beans BP in Garrard County, Sal’s Marathon in Lincoln County, and Hardees in Junction City.

Lincoln County Sheriff’s Department had been made aware of other break-ins on Monday by the time they were alerted to the burglary at Sal’s Marathon, north of Stanford.

Lincoln Sheriff Curt Folger said Deputy Sim Thacker was en route to Sal’s when he passed the suspects' vehicle, a black Chevy TrailBlazer with Indiana tags.

“He turned on (the vehicle) and, by that time, they had got pretty far ahead of him,” Folger said.

The suspects turned off the TrailBlazer’s lights, Folger said, and turned off on a side road.

Thacker took a guess at the direction the suspects went and located the vehicle, but the suspects already had fled on foot, Folger said.

A canine unit was brought in for tracking but was unsuccessful, he added.

“We found a lot of items in the vehicle that looked they had come from the break-ins,” Folger said. “Money, cigarettes, beer. We’ve recovered approximately $2,500 in cash.”

All of the items are locked in evidence but should be returned to their owners following investigation.

SCHOOL CUTS

allocation plan that raises the district student-to-teacher ratio from 24-to-1 to 25-to-1.

"The board does not take this lightly," Board Chairman Jim Kelley said. "We know that we're dealing with people and, in turn, we're dealing with their students. So as Miss Hatter loses sleep in the night worrying about these things, we're concerned about them also."

The net effect is the loss of the equivalent of six full-time teachers across the district, but actual changes at individual schools vary widely because of differing enrollments.

Stanford Elementary School is slated to lose 2.8 full-time teachers, while Lincoln County High School is set to lose 1.45 teachers and McKinney Elementary will lose 1.3 teachers.

Waynesburg Elementary School and McGuffey Sixth-Grade Center would each lose half of a full-time teacher, and Hustonville Elementary School will lose .3 of a full-time teacher.

Highland Elementary would gain half a full-time position and Lincoln County Middle School would gain about a third of a full-time position under the plan.

Fort Logan High School's and Crab Orchard Elementary School's staffing levels would be unaffected.

Based on the average district teacher's salary of $45,000, school officials estimated cutting the six positions could save $270,000. Hatter said teachers who are cut will not be tenured and will likely make less than the average salary but that when benefits are factored in on top of salaries, the savings will likely be about the same.

The plan is a tentative allocation due by March 1 to the school principals so they can begin to make plans, Hatter said. Further changes can still be made before the final allocation is submitted by May 1.

Hatter said the board and school officials are still coming up with a list of all the ways in which the district could cut the additional funds needed in order to reach $500,000 in savings.

"Part of what I'm trying to do is to listen to people about their ideas of where the cuts need to be made," she said. "We haven't made those decisions."

Hatter said her goal is to have a decision made on the remaining cuts before April 1.

She compared the district budget cuts to a crew righting the course of a ship headed for disaster.

"If you say there's an iceberg out there and we have time to miss it, well, we've started turning and we have enough time to turn," she said. "I'm not saying we're going broke."

Hatter said the board opted for a "middle" approach to cuts, saving more cuts for down the road if federal and other sources of funding continue to stagnate.

"I'm always shaky about making decisions (like this)," she confessed to the board members. "We don't know exactly how much we're going to have. We don't know what our unforeseen expenses will be. We don't know how much the federal government is gong to sequester. We don't know when they're going to say, 'We're not paying that bill for you.'"

Board member Denny Hogue said he was saddened that many who had learned of the cuts seemed more concerned about their own well-being than the well-being of the district.

"You can have a dissenting opinion — everybody is entitled to their own opinion — but if we've got everybody thinking about just themselves, it's going to make it unsettling for everybody," he said. "We can get through it and make it work, but we can't if everybody is pulling apart instead of working together."

Before the board meeting ended, Hatter thanked the board for making a hard vote and paraphrased Theodore Roosevelt.

"The best option is to make the right decision; the second-best option is to make the wrong decision; and the worst option is to make no decision at all," she said. "So I appreciate your support in voting for this. I know it's hard, and I think we can take Mr. Hogue's advice and get through this together."

Rep. David Meade, second from left on the front row, looks over paperwork during a House State Government Committee meeting Feb. 21. Meade voiced concern during the meeting about House Bill 119, which would require local governments across the state to use iron and steel made in the U.S., even if doing so is more expensive than purchasing metal manufactured outside the country. Meade told fellow committee members he felt the law would impose an unfunded mandate on local governments.

a fetus has not reached 20 weeks of gestation.

Currently, Meade said no such certificate is even an option for women who miscarry early in their pregnancies.

Meade said his family has experienced first-hand dealing with a miscarriage.

"It's kind of a personal thing for people and it's a very emotional time," he said. "Really, this is just a way to give closure to these types of things."

Another bill Meade is co-sponsoring attempts to prevent government burdening a person's freedom of religion.

Meade said House Bill 279 was drafted in response to concerns that the Affordable Care Act, commonly referred to as Obamacare, would require employers to pay for health insurance premiums that cover abortions.

While the bill intends to allow organizations like the Catholic Church to opt out of health insurance requirements, the wording is much broader and addresses freedom of religion in general, Meade said.

A bill that would protect child custody arrangements when one of the parents is deployed by the military is another bill Meade has on his plate.

House Bill 69 would require that when someone who has been deployed returns home, the custody arrangement in place when they left would be reinstated.

"The judges shouldn't be awarding custody when somebody's not there to defend themselves, anyway," Meade said.

Sen. Jared Carpenter, R-Berea, said one of the bills he supports is Senate Bill 43, which would remove or reduce an 18-month waiting period on physician assistants.

The specifics of the law are complex and technical, but under current law, Carpenter said doctors like Stanford's Dr. Naren James are having a hard time keeping physician assistants because the waiting period prevents them from earning more money.

Physician assistants can currently earn potentially twice as much money if they leave Kentucky instead of abiding the waiting period, Carpenter said.

"We were losing a large number of our physician assistants that graduated college in Kentucky," he said. "We weren't competitive because of this antiquated law."

The bill has passed the senate and is currently being addressed by the House Health and Welfare Committee.

Carpenter said another of the bills he is sponsoring would create more affordable lifetime fishing licenses for senior citizens and people with disabilities.

Carpenter is sponsoring a large amount of legislation, including a bill to "exemption religious organizations from the insurance code," a bill making it easier for funeral directors from out-of-state to operate in Kentucky, a bill addressing definitions of drug overdoses and multiple bills fine-tuning the language in already-existing law.

Carpenter, who is chairman of the Senate Natural Resources and Energy Committee, said that committee will be addressing several important items over the next few weeks affecting energy affordability.

Carpenter and Meade both said not much has been passed into law yet that Lincoln County residents will see an immediate impact from. Pension reform is a major issue the legislature has yet to fully address, and solutions found there could be felt in Lincoln County, they said.

Meade noted a smoking ban bill and a hemp bill, both of which are still making their ways through the House, could also create noticeable changes for Lincoln County.

federal gun regulations, but getting those bills passed into law doesn't appear likely.

Sen. Jared Carpenter, R-Berea, and Rep. David Meade, R-Stanford, both said they have strong support from their constituents, who are worried the federal government may try to reduce their second-amendment rights.

"I call it the 'fear factor,'" Carpenter said. "People are scared that there's going to be a limitation put on what you're allowed to have — if you're allowed to buy it or not buy it."

Carpenter said ammunition is getting harder and harder to find at gun stores and other places like Walmart because people are buying as much as they can in anticipation of future federal bans.

Legislation he is sponsoring — Senate Bill 129 — would set gun owners' minds at ease by prohibiting the enforcement of any new federal regulations concerning guns, ammunition or gun accessories, Carpenter said.

"So many people from my area and my district were calling me with concerns of all the push coming from the executive branch at the federal level to really change and modify the gun ownership policies to make it tougher and harder to own guns," Carpenter said. "They were really scared that Kentucky needed to get on the forefront of this thought process."

Meade said he has similar concerns about gun control laws that could come down from the federal government in the future.

"The federal government is trying to do away with our second amendment (rights). They're trying to ... enact so many gun gun control laws that we're afraid it's going to hinder our second-amendment rights here in Kentucky," he said. "We're trying to be proactive and combat some of those things before they happen."

Meade is a co-sponsor on a bill that would exempt guns and ammunition made in Kentucky from federal regulation.

House Bill 285 intends to prevent federal plans to raise taxes on ammunition from affecting the cost of Kentucky-made ammo, Meade said.

Meade is also a co-sponsor of House Bill 168, which warns that the proposed federal assault weapons ban "threatens the rights of Kentuckians to keep and bear arms" and recent executive orders from President Barack Obama "violate the President's powers under the Constitution."

The bill goes on to declare that "all federal acts, laws, orders, rules, and regulations regarding firearms, past, present, or future, violate the (U.S. Constitution)."

Following the horrific shooting deaths of 20 children and six adults at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Conn., in December, President Barack Obama issued 23 executive orders aimed at improving the background check process, disseminating information about gun violence, encouraging safe gun ownership and starting national conversations about guns.

According to a report from Forbes, none of the executive orders would affect gun owners' current rights and any proposal for limiting gun availability would have to go through congress first.

The Democratically-controlled U.S. Senate is currently considering legislation that would institute a new ban on assault weapons, but it seems unlikely such legislation will pass this year.

Similarly at the state level, Carpenter and Rep. Meade said all of the gun bills — both for and against gun control — introduced during this general session are unlikely to pass into law.

Meade said there have probably been six or seven bills introduced this session proposing stricter gun regulation and an equivalent number of bills pushing back against gun control.

The bill he co-sponors that would declare federal gun regulations unconstitutional was the most likely one to pass the state house, but it has been re-assigned to the House Judiciary Committee, he said.

"Typically, when they reassign them, they're wanting to kill them," he said.

Carpenter's anti-federal-gun-control bill has passed in the state senate 34-3 and Carpenter said if it makes it to the floor of the house, it will pass there, too.

"Out of 100 house members, 90 of them live in areas that people are concerned about their second-amendment rights," Carpenter said. "There will be some of the more liberal areas where that's not as big of a concern."

But getting the bill through house committees and onto the floor is an obstacle in itself.

"It will be extremely tough for it to get passed by both branches and signed by the governor," Carpenter said.

While Carpenter and Meade admitted proposing state laws running counter to federal laws aren't the norm, they both argued it is an acceptable legal move.

"The supremacy clause of the Constitution says that all states follow federal law as long as it falls within the constitution," Carpenter said. "But if your constitutional right is being jeopardized, then it's your right to say that you want to make sure that that right is not being (taken away)."

Napier appeals conviction

By Todd Kleffman
tkleffman@schurz.com

FRANKFORT — Lawyers for Jason Napier, who was convicted of manslaughter in Lincoln Circuit Court, in 2011, are hoping the mention of a polygraph test during the trial will give their client another day in court.

Louisville attorney Steve Romines said Friday that arguments were made in the state Court of Appeals that Napier should get another trial because Judge David Tapp did not declare a mistrial after witness Jessica Noble told jurors she had passed a lie-detector test concerning matters related to her four-year-old son, Nathaniel Knox, who was beaten to death in 2009.

"Any mention of a polygraph in a criminal trial is not allowed," Romines said. "First, there was no proof she passed, and even if she did, it was inadmissible."

Napier, of Stanford, was convicted of second-degree manslaughter and second-degree child abuse in Nathaniel's death following a three-day trial and sentenced to 15 years in prison. Noble, his former girlfriend, had previously pled guilty to manslaughter and was a key witness against Napier during the trial.

While on the stand, Noble volunteered to jurors that she had passed a lie-detector test, even though she had not been asked about it by attorneys. Romines objected and, during a conference at the bench, asked Tapp to declare a mistrial. Tapp declined, but did admonish jurors do disregard Noble's comment about the polygraph.

"He knew what she did was inadmissible and told the jury to strike it from their minds, but the problem is that's like unringing a bell — it can't be done," Romines said. "The case came down to one of those people was lying, and she tried to tell jurors she passed a lie-detector test."

Romines said the Court of Appeals should render its decision in 30 to 45 days.

177 medical professionals convene in Lincoln for annual rural health weekend

STANFORD — Emergency responders and health care workers from across Kentucky visited Lincoln County over the weekend for the second annual Rural Healthcare Training Weekend.

The event provided 15 continuing education classes for medical responders, hospital staff and others in the healthcare field. It also featured a lunch with healthcare vendor booths and an educational mock trial.

Stanford EMS Director Ashley Powell said the training weekend grew by more than 40 percent over its premiere year in 2012, attracting 177 participants from as far away as Paducah.

The event, which was hosted at Lincoln County High School, grew out of a county-wide training event officials began in Lincoln County four years ago, Powell said.

The mock trial was put on in the high school auditorium Sunday afternoon and featured local prosecutor Carol Hill and attorney Jonathan Baker arguing their case before a mock judge, played by local attorney Paul Long.

Long, who has been practicing law for 32 years, said the purpose of the mock trial was to illustrate how vitally important it is for EMS and medical personnel to document everything they do on the job.

The trial presented the fake case of Sally Jones, who was suing "Smith County EMS" and "Smith County Hospital" for negligence in allowing her husband to die from a diabetic condition after he was in a car wreck.

Baker and Hill questioned and cross-examined multiple witnesses, including a paramedic who attended to Jones' wife on the scene and a nurse who treated him in the emergency room.

Rural Healthcare Weekend attendee Regina Martin practices intubating a patient using "Meti-Man," a $150,000 simulation dummy brought to the event by Air Evac Life Team Regional Educator Ryan Pratt.

Members of the audience were selected as jury members and had to deliberate for 17 minutes after the case was presented before they returned with a verdict finding both the EMS service and hospital negligent.

Baker and Hill said even though the jury could decide for themselves the outcome, the case was set up so the EMS service and hospital would lose.

Baker, who has been across the table from Hill on real court cases but never gone to trial against her, said he hopes attendees came away with valuable lessons from the trial and perhaps got some entertainment value out of it, too.

"It gives people something more interesting to do than just sit and listen to lectures all day," he said.

Rural Healthcare Weekend attendees also had the chance to try out their emergency healthcare skills on a simulation dummy nicknamed "Meti-Man."

Ryan Pratt, regional educator for the event's co-sponsor Air Evan Life Team, said his simulation dummy, which is hooked up to a computer and an air compressor, can breathe and even has its own pulse. Trainees can perform IVs on the dummy's arm, shock it back to life and learn how to treat various different medical issues.

"He's basically a $150,000 simulator," Pratt said. "It helps people learn the basics instead of performing on a real person."

Interior Journal exec inducted into Ky. Journalism Hall of Fame

John Nelson, the executive editor of The Interior Journal and its sister publications in Danville, Nicholasville and Winchester, has been selected as an inductee to the Kentucky Journalism Hall of Fame.

The induction ceremony will take place at noon April 23 at a location to be determined. Al Tompkins with the Poynter Institute will be the luncheon speaker.

Nelson, a past president of the Kentucky Press Association, is one of five inductees. Also to be inducted are Marla Ridenour, Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal; the late Ralph Gabbard, TV executive; Don Modlin, retired news director of WKYU-FM; and Bill Goodman with Kentucky Educational Television.

The Kentucky Journalism Hall of Fame was established in 1980 by the University of Kentucky Journalism Alumni Association. The purpose is to recognize Kentuckians who have made significant contributions to the profession of journalism.

the Lincoln County Regional Jail.

Folger said after receiving consent to search the trailer at 33 Schrock Ave., he found an active meth lab and evidence of previous meth labs that were probably in operation at the same location.

"It looks like meth had been processed there more than once," he said.

Folger said there were also children's toys present in the home, raising the possibility that children were being exposed to the dangers of meth manufacturing.

Stanford Fire Chief Scott Maples and three firefighters responded to the scene of the meth lab with the city's hazardous materials response vehicle and trailer.

Firefighters donned decontamination suits and set up the trailer's portable decontamination shower for Young, Haight, Hale and Payne, who had been exposed to pure ammonia, known as anhydrous ammonia, during the process of making methamphetamine, Maples said.

A Kentucky State Police hazmat team cleaned up the actual meth lab, which Stanford is not outfitted to do, Maples added.

"Anything major — major spills or a major hazardous incident, we'd call outside agencies. But we can handle the small stuff," he said.

Maples said the hazmat vehicle is capable of cleaning up a variety of dangerous materials, including fuel spills after vehicle wrecks.

The hazmat vehicle was initially obtained by Stanford in 2001 thanks to a Homeland Security grant. The fire department operated it for a period of time until it was given to Lincoln County.

Maples said the city fire department has recently taken over operation of the vehicle again and now has firefighters who are trained hazmat technicians qualified to clean up spills using the vehicle's various tools.

The ammonia decontamination run was the second since the city took over the vehicle, the first coming when it responded to clean up a diesel fuel spill.

As of Tuesday evening, Haight, Hale and Young were being held on $25,000 cash bonds. Payne bonded out on $10,000 Saturday.

Girls' and boys' tourneys under way at Lincoln, Pulaski

Lincoln County's Lady Patriots begin their quest to repeat as 12th Region Tournament champions tonight (Thursday) in the tournament's second quarterfinal round at Pulaski County High School.

The Lady Patriots (24-5), champions of the 45th District, will face the Somerset Lady Briar Jumpers (13-17) in tonight's first game at 6 p.m. Somerset finished as runner-up in the 47th District.

In game two at approximately 7:30 p.m., 46th District winner Mercer County (24-8) will play 48th District runner-up McCreary Central (16-15).

The girls 12th Region Tournament got under way last night (Wednesday) at Pulaski. Casey County, the 47th District winner, and Burgin, runner-up in the 46th, met in the first game of the opening quarterfinal round and Southwestern, the 48th District champ, played 45th District runner-up Boyle County in the nightcap. Results from those games were unavailable at press time.

The semifinal and championship games will be played Monday and Tuesday, March 4 and 5, with the title tilt set for a 7 p.m. tip.

The boys 12th Region Tournament semifinals have now been set.

Lincoln girls claim sixth straight title with 62-45 win over Boyle

By Nancy Leedy

DANVILLE — The Lincoln County Lady Patriots enjoyed another happy ending to the 45th District Tournament.

Lincoln County walked away with its sixth straight district title Friday night by defeating host Boyle County 62-45 in the championship game at Rebel Arena.

Senior forward Sydney Harris, who had 19 points, six rebounds and three blocked shots, helped lead Lincoln's sedate postgame celebration.

"We like winning," said Harris. "We've won (district) every year since I've been in the seventh grade, and we played to win tonight."

No. 1 seed Lincoln (24-5) and No. 3 seed Boyle (17-13) were embattled in a close game early, but the Lady Patriots used a 14-4 scoring tear over the second and third quarters to break open the game and beat the Lady Rebels for the third time this season.

Even after her team swept Boyle in the regular season, Lincoln coach Cassandra McWhorter knew contending for the district title at Boyle's gym would not be an easy task.

"They've not had a lot of success in the recent past, but they've got a taste of it this season and they are playing really good basketball, so I knew it was going to be a battle," she said. "I told the girls that Boyle County is playing very well right now. Coach (Greg) Edwards has done a great job with his girls, and they are hungry. I knew with it being on their home floor that they wanted this."

Boyle did want the title. But Greg Edwards also knew his team had to overcome a strong opponent to get it.

"Give Lincoln County credit," Edwards said. "That's a heck of a team. They've been here before. They've got Final Four experience in the state tournament. They don't flinch in this kind of situation. But our effort was there. I thought our girls came out and battled tough early in

Boyle beats Lincoln 67-54

By Mike Marsee

DANVILLE — Every Boyle County shot seemed to go through the net in the first quarter, and almost nothing was falling for Lincoln County.

And that was a combination the Patriots just couldn't overcome.

The district championship trophy was moved well out of the reach of the Lincoln boys early in the game Friday, and they couldn't get close enough in the final three periods to pry it away from Boyle, which won the 45th District Tournament with a 67-54 victory in the title game at Rebel Arena.

The Rebels outscored the Patriots 15-1 over the first 5 minutes, 17 seconds and were never threatened en route to their second consecutive title and their third in four years.

No. 1 seed Boyle (15-12) went 4-for-6 from 3-point range and 7-for-11 overall from the field in the first quarter, while third-seeded Lincoln (15-17) missed its first six field-goal attempts and was 2-for-10 in the first period.

"They came out shooting the ball really, really well, and we didn't do a very good job in the zone getting out and contesting their two best shooters," Lincoln coach Jeff Jackson said. "They hit the first three 3s and we were

West Jessamine knocks out Lincoln

By Nancy Leedy

STANFORD — The Lincoln County boys' basketball season came to a heartbreaking end Monday as West Jessamine defeated the Patriots 79-69 in the first round of the 12th Region Tournament played at Lincoln.

After narrowly losing to West Jessamine 64-62 at home early in the regular season, Lincoln was hoping to redeem itself in the postseason rematch and corral the Colts.

However, there was no fencing in the Colts Monday. Chase Fain had a game-high 26 points on 10-for-15 shooting and grabbed 12 rebounds, Daulton Peters knocked back 19 points on 7-for-12 shooting and had eight boards, and Will Henderson scored 11 points, going 8-for-10 at the free-throw line, as West Jessamine (18-11) advanced to Friday's semifinal round.

Fain, a senior forward, had just eight points in a closely-contested first half, then burned the nets for 14 points in a 23-7 third-quarter Colt run that turned a 27-25 halftime lead into a 50-32 cushion and a victory.

"We didn't guard the second half," Lincoln coach Jeff Jackson said. "We're just down two (at half). We talk to them about doing things the right way, getting out on the shooters, being solid on defense. But they got on a roll. We didn't have anybody that could guard Fain tonight. The second half he just went crazy."

"We missed a lot of shots around the basket that led to transition baskets for them. They can score, and they can really score when they are not defended. Got to give them a lot of credit, when they got a chance they were on a roll."

West Jessamine shot 57 percent (26-for-46) from the field overall, hitting four 3-point shots. Five of the six scoring Colts shot 58 percent or better from the field. The Colts put up big numbers at the charity stripe as well, sinking 23 shots on 32 trips to the line.

Timmy Taylor and BJ Hoover led three Patriots in double figures, with 18 points and 15 assists for Taylor and 18 points off 4-for-9 3-point shooting for Hoover. But West Jessamine held Lincoln to just 38 percent (23-for-61) shooting overall. The Patriots were 8-for-28 from 3 and 15-for-20 at the foul line.

Lincoln defeats Danville 49-36 to reach district finals

by Nancy Leedy

DANVILLE — For the second year in a row, the Lincoln County boys have knocked Danville out of district contention.

The Patriots survived a low-scoring slugfest with the rival Admirals, defeating Danville 49-36 Wednesday in a 45th District Tournament semifinal at Boyle County's Rebel Arena.

After trailing for most of the first half, Lincoln (15-16) surged offensively late in the second quarter, rolling off seven straight points before the break to take a 20-14 lead. The Patriots never trailed again, leading by as many as nine points in the second half.

Danville (10-15) did trim the Lincoln lead to 41-36 with just 2 minutes, 32 seconds left to play, only to have the Patriots put the game away with an 8-for-10 run at the foul line.

"I'm real proud of the effort our kids gave," Lincoln coach Jeff Jackson said. "We needed 32 minutes of focus, and I thought we had 32 minutes of focus. We missed a couple shots, a couple layups, but we didn't drop our head on the other end. We went down and defended and did some good things."

"It was a good defensive game. It was a good win. It means we get to play at home again (in next week's 12th Region Tournament at Lincoln) and it means we get to play with our girls team for a district title Friday night."

No. 3 seed Lincoln held second-seeded Danville to 34 percent (14-for-41) shooting from the field, giving up only one 3-point basket, and the Admirals were just 7-for-13 at the free throw line.

The Patriots were only slightly better from the field at 37 percent (15-for-41) but they boosted their point total by going 5-for-19 from 3-point range and 14-for-21 at the foul line.

Danville coach Andrew Zaheri said he wasn't surprised at the way Lincoln attacked defensively.

"Me and the coaches had talked about it, and we thought that Lincoln County may throw a zone at us. And that's what they did," he said. "Most of the year we've seen them go man-to-man and they didn't do the zone. I probably just didn't do a good enough job going over our zone offenses. Earlier this year we went through a span where we played about four or five teams and that's all we saw, so we took it for granted."

Danville pulled ahead of Lincoln 5-0 early, with Christian Gateskill-Fuqua, who led all scorers with 15 points, knocking down the first two buckets of the game, including a 3-pointer.

Lincoln made up for its slow start by answering Gateskill-Fuqua's run with its own run – a string of six straight points. Luke Hill, who had 10 points and 11 rebounds for the Patriots, scored inside to get the team started and Brandon Pittman followed with one free throw toss before BJ Hoover aired out a trey to give Lincoln its first lead, 6-5.

Damir Karapandzic converted on a 3-point play to nudge Danville back on top, but Hill answered before the buzzer to tie the game at 8-all after the first quarter.

Neither team's offense got off to a strong start, with Lincoln going 3-for-14 and Danville going 3-for-13 in the first quarter, both with one 3-point goal.

Alex Burnside, who finished with 10 points for Danville, broke the tie with a putback to start the second quarter. Burnside scored six of his total points in the second to help Danville maintain its lead for most of the period. But again, poor shooting would plague the Admirals. They made just 2 of 13 field goal attempts in the period, with a 2-for-4 effort at the foul line.

Lincoln started the second quarter cold, going 2-for-6 from the field, and trailed 14-13 with just 2:45 left in the first half, but the Patriots would turn things around before the break.

After being fouled by Burnside, Hill stepped to the line and sank two free throws, Neil Conley followed with a 3-pointer and then, with just four ticks left on the clock, Hoover capped off the half by fielding a long pass from Timmy Taylor and laying it in for a 20-14 halftime advantage.

"We wanted to attack the zone tonight," Jackson said. "I thought we moved the ball a little better and Timmy (Taylor) was able to, once we swung it around a couple times and they got a little spread, he was able to get in the lane and hit some people for some good shots. We wanted to have good shot selection and not force anything. I thought our guys did a good job moving the ball and we were aggressive. Our shot selection was better tonight than its been in a long time."

Lincoln extended its 7-0 run just before the half into a 12-2 surge, with Hill putting up a jumper and Hoover draining a 3-pointer early in the third quarter to make it 25-16.

Danville got within five twice in the third quarter off buckets by Gateskill-Fuqua and Karapandzic, but Jacob Conway, who finished with 10 second-half points, answered the Gateskill-Fuqua shot with a jumper and Conley hit for his second trey of the night after Karapandzic scored.

Conley collected his third and final trey just before time expired in the third to push Lincoln's lead back to nine at 35-26.

Jawan Grey drove the baseline for a basket with 2:32 left in the game to get Danville back within 41-36, but the Admirals never could get any closer.

"Coach Jackson had a great game plan," Zaheri said. "We kept hearing him over and over again saying, 'Tighten it up! Tighten it up!' He just cut off our gaps. And I think we got a little lethargic tonight. When we can't get the ball to the rim, we're not nearly as effective as a team as we can be."

Jackson knew cutting Danville's offense off would not be an easy task.

"They are so long and athletic, but we defended pretty well and we limited them to one shot most of the time," he said. "Our kids battled them on the boards. They did a good job rebounding the basketball, and you have to do that if you want to win at this time of the year."

The Patriots secured the win at the line. Taylor went 3-for-4 in the final 1:56, Pittman went 1-for-2 and Conway went 4-for-4 to advance Lincoln to Friday's championship game with host Boyle County.

Danville outrebounded Lincoln 31-27 led by Burnside with nine rebounds. Wooldridge had eight boards and Gateskill-Fuqua had seven. Hill led Lincoln with 11 boards. Conway had seven.

Harris helped get Lincoln off to a 7-4 start by hitting two buckets in the paint and sinking a free throw toss. Marlee Smith, who led Boyle with 14 points, and Dee Foster, who finished with nine points and a game-high 11 rebounds, had a bucket apiece for Boyle in the opening run. Smith added two free throws midway of the first to make it a 7-6 ballgame, then Foster followed with a putback and a 3-point goal to give the Lady Rebels their first lead, 11-7.

Lincoln's Emily Fox, who had 16 points, four rebounds, three steals and three blocked shots, followed Foster's shot with her own 3 to regain the lead only to have Foster hit again to give Boyle a 13-10 edge.

Fox converted on two free throws after a steal to cut the margin to one then Spangler, who double-doubled with 10 points and 10 rebounds along with three assists and two steals, stepped behind the arc for a 3-pointer for a 15-13 Lincoln lead after one quarter.

Boyle regained the lead in the first minute of the second quarter, with Lauren Richards opening the quarter scoring to tie the game at 15-all and Hannah Harris following with a putback for another Boyle lead.

Unfortunately for Boyle, those two shots would be the only ones to fall until just 59 seconds remained in the first half as the Lady Rebels struggled on 3-for-13 shooting. The Lady Rebels went a span of three minutes without scoring a single point.

Lincoln's offense also struggled early in the second quarter, going 3 minutes, 45 seconds before getting a field goal, but the Lady Patriots made up for the missed shots at the foul line. Tiandra Hocker collected two free throws and Spangler got one to ease Lincoln on top 18-17 before Ciara Saylor finally hit for a 3-pointer to make it 21-17 with 4:15 left in the first half.

Lincoln's lead was 26-22 when Fox went coast-to-coast off a steal to set off a 6-0 run. Sydney Harris finished the run with a bank shot and layup for a 32-22 margin with 1:24 to go. Chelsea Gill interrupted the run with a jumper and Cammi Holton and Smith collected a free throw apiece for Boyle before Fox closed the half with a layup for a 34-26 Lady Pat lead.

"Tonight, we just couldn't get anything to go offensively," Edwards said. "That's partly because of Lincoln's defense, but we just had open shots that we didn't get them to go down. We missed 28 shots in the paint and missed nine free throws tonight. You are not going to do that against a good team and expect to win."

Lincoln, which shot 45 percent (20-for-44) from the field overall, finished 7-for-13 in the second quarter.

And the shots kept falling to start the second half, with Lincoln going 3-for-3 in a 6-0 run. Sydney Harris hit twice in the run and Spencer Sims hit inside to make it a 40-26 ballgame.

"I knew they (Lady Rebels) were going to be a challenge and we would just have to be patient," Harris said "We just came in and said we have to be mature and we have to keep our calm. Coach McWhorter always tells us that we can't win it in one quarter so we have to keep playing four quarters. We did that tonight. We knew we had to play Lincoln County basketball, and that's what we did."

Smith converted on a three-point play late in the third to trim the Lincoln lead to 42-34, but the Lady Patriots answered last with Sims draining a 3-pointer and Spangler picking up a three-point play to put the margin at 48-34 going into the fourth quarter.

Sims finished just shy of double digits, coming off the bench for eight points.

"She got close. She really gave us a big lift off the bench," McWhorter said of Sims. "It's what I told the girls in the locker room, people can key in on who they think are our best players, and a lot of times they are going to key in on Sydney and Emily. But we have other players who can step up and have big nights, too, and I think that gives us a little bit of an advantage."

Boyle got as close as 52-42 in the fourth quarter off two Hannah Harris free throws before Lincoln moved on to collect the win.

While disappointed in the loss, Edwards said he's proud of the Lady Rebels getting their first berth in the 12th Region Tournament since 2009.

"We got over the hump this year," he said. "We got back in the district championship game, and that was what we were shooting for. Every time we make a step up, we've got to keep working to get to where we want to be."

"I told the girls, 'Look, we've got next week (regionals at Pulaski County). Our district is tough, and the competition next week is not going to be anything we haven't seen here.' We've just got to rebound and have some good days of practice and focus on next week."

McWhorter is hopeful that Lincoln can continue with its winning ways as it prepares to defend its regional title.

"We hope to keep winning a few more," she said. "This is the time of the year that you work for all season, and we're excited to be back making another run."

down 9-to-1, and it makes it kind of tough. They built on that momentum. I didn't have the kids ready to play, and apparently our game plan was not what it should have been."

Lincoln lost to Boyle for the third time in as many games this season and came up short in its bid for its first district crown since 2009. But, as runners-up, the Patriots still earned a chance to return home and play in the 12th Region Tournament, where they faced West Jessamine Tuesday night.

The Patriots held a 1-0 lead for all of 32 seconds after Luke Hill hit one of two free throws before the Rebels took control. Hagen Tyler, Brett Jones and Chapman Bean sank three 3-point shots in an 87-second span to give the Rebels a 9-1 lead after 3:12 and kick off a run of 15 unanswered points.

"We told ourselves, 'Lincoln is a great shooting team, and if they come out hot in the first three minutes it's going to be tough, so we've got to match their intensity,'" Boyle forward Aram Martin said. "When we got up 15-1, I think we knew, basically, it was over then."

The Rebels hit at least half of their shots for the second time is as many tournament games. They were 7-for-14 from 3-point range and 21-for-41 overall from the field, and they were 47-for-93 from the field in their two tournament games.

The Rebels also dominated on the boards, outrebounding the Patriots 32-16. Micah Miniard had 15 rebounds while Lincoln's leading rebounder, B.J. Hoover, had only four boards.

Jackson said losing the battle of the boards kept Lincoln from mounting any sort of serious comeback.

"They beat us on the glass, and we told our kids the number one key tonight was neutralizing them on the boards, and we failed to do that," he said. "We'd get a couple of baskets and try to make a run, and they shot and missed and we failed to get the rebound on two or three occasions. We've got to do a better job of rebounding the basketball."

Timmy Taylor scored 11 points in the second half and finished with 15 points and six assists for Lincoln, which shot 42 percent from the field but was just 4-for-15 from 3-point range. Jacob Conway and Luke Hill had 13 points each, and both were 5-for-10 from the field.

The Patriots made 14 of 18 free throws — Taylor was 8-for-10 — but Boyle made 18 of 19.

Lincoln never got closer than 13 points after Tyler's 3-pointer with 1:39 left in the first half gave Boyle a 32-17 lead. Tyler led the Rebels with 25 points, going 4-for-6 from 3-point range, 6-for-12 overall from the field and 9-for-10 at the foul line.

Boyle led 41-21 with 4:39 left in the third quarter after Bean buried a 3-point shot to cap a 7-0 run, and the Rebels took their largest lead at 52-28 in the closing seconds of the period after Bean and Tyler sank two free throws each on consecutive trips.

The Patriots pulled within 59-44 midway through the fourth quarter with a 3-pointer by Taylor and a jumper by Hill, but Miniard derailed the rally with putback baskets on Boyle's next two possessions, making it 63-45 with 3:42 to play.

"We're awful young, and we play young sometimes, so we've just got to keep working and trying to get better," Jackson said.

BJ HOOVER of Lincoln County has the Boyle County fans watching his every move as he launches a 3-point shot for the Patriots in the 45th District Tournament title game. Hoover finished with eight points in the loss to the host Rebels.

FARM FACTS

Putting the punch back in your pastures

Successful renovation requires planning, time lines, and attention to detail. Let's review some of those important details that help you have successful seedings.

Adjust soil fertility prior to seeding. Testing soil is an important first step in pasture renovation. Without proper soil fertility, pasture renovation will not be successful. Apply lime and fertilizer according to soil-test recommendations. Phosphorus and potassium are especially important in the establishment and maintenance of legumes in pastures. Soil acidity is a major factor limiting pasture growth. Maintain soil pH between 6.2 and 6.4 for grass-legume mixtures. Lime not only corrects soil acidity, but also supplies calcium and magnesium. Do not apply nitrogen fertilizer just before or after seeding. Nitrogen will encourage the growth of established sods resulting in increased competition for light, water, and nutrients that will, in many cases, kill developing seedlings by crowding them out.

The existing sod must be suppressed and plant residue reduced prior to seeding. Sod can be suppressed by hard grazing in late fall and winter. Overgrazing reduces the competitiveness of the sod. This allows for seed to reach the soil surface and establish good soil-seed contact, which is essential for germination and emergence. Vegetation can also be suppressed using a nonselective herbicide.

Choose adapted forage species and use certified seed. Use of certified seed will ensure you are getting high-quality, weed-free seed. The best red clovers include: Certified Kenland, Cinnamon+, Starfire II, Freedom and Plus II. The best white clovers are: Will, Regalgraze, Advantage, Pinnacle and Patriot. Always inoculate legume seed. Legumes form a symbiotic relationship with nitrogen-fixing bacteria in which nitrogen from the air is fixed into a plant-available form. There is no need for nitrogen fertilizer when legumes make up more than 25 percent of a pasture stand or 35 percent of a hay stand. Legume seed should always be inoculated with the proper strain of nitrogen fixing bacteria before seeding.

There are a number of different seeding methods, but the objective is always the same: to achieve good soil-seed contact. This helps to ensure that the seed will germinate and emerge in a timely manner.

Frost seeding is accomplished by broadcasting seed onto the soil surface in late winter. Soil surface freezing during the night and thawing during the day will cause small cracks to form. These cracks incorporate the seed into the soil. Frost seeding is enhanced by dragging and cultipacking during or after broadcasting the seed. In order for frost seeding to be successful, the seed must reach the soil surface. Therefore, it is critical that you reduce plant residue on the soil surface. In Kentucky, frost seedings are most successful when seed is broadcast Feb. 10 to March 10. This method works best with clovers. It does not work well with grasses and alfalfa. Minimum tillage seeding is accomplished by disturbing 40 percent to 60 percent of an established sod. This can be done using a disk, field cultivator, or other tillage implement. The implement does not need to penetrate the soil more than two to four inches. Tillage helps to suppress the sod and expose bare soil. After tillage, broadcast the seed onto the soil surface and follow with dragging and/or cultipacking. This seeding method can be used to reintroduce both perennial grasses and legumes into an established sod.

No-tillage seeding requires more effort and attention to detail. Because no-tillage seeding does not disturb the sod, it is especially important to suppress the sod and reduce residue prior to planting. Placing the seed too deep in the soil is a common mistake that results in stand failures. It is critical that the seeding depth is checked frequently since it can vary with soil conditions. A general rule is that if a little seed cannot be seen beside the slit, then the seeding depth is too deep. You are shooting for a seeding depth of ½ inches.

Regardless of the seeding method, it is absolutely essential that competition from the existing sod and weeds be controlled after the seed has germinated and the seedlings have emerged. Failure to control competition during establishment allows weeds and established vegetation to successfully compete for water and nutrients and shade new seedlings. This will lead to stand failure. Competition can be controlled successfully by frequently clipping the sod to a height just above the growing seedlings. Flash grazing can also be an effective way to control competition. Flash grazing is accomplished by restricting a large number of animals to a relatively small area for a short period of time. This results in the quick removal of competing vegetation in a uniform manner. Clipping and grazing may damage or kill some seedlings, but the losses will be far less than if the competition is not controlled.

Make a difference for our county's youth

Farm license plate donations benefit 4-H

By Courtney Brock,
Lincoln County 4-H Agent

Kentucky 4-H is one of the most important and influential youth programs in our state and our county. Across Kentucky, nearly 230,000 youth ages nine to 19 learn about leadership, citizenship and life skills in "learn-by-doing" experiences such as public speaking, agriculture projects like livestock judging, science projects, 4-H camp, Teen Conference, and many other 4-H programs and activities.

In Lincoln County, more than 2,000 youth belong to 4-H and are active in programs and activities such as 4-H Adventures in Agriculture, Shooting Sports, Teen Club, Horse Club, and more. These 4-H programs provide opportunities to our youth and train the next generation of leaders for Kentucky's communities.

Many of today's farmers learned valuable lessons while growing up as members of the local 4-H. Now there is an easy way farmers can help support the local 4-H program that is so valuable to our community, our county and most importantly, our youth.

As you renew your farm license plates at the county clerk's office, please make the voluntary $10 donation, a third of which goes directly to support 4-H programs and activities.

The farm license plate donation program is supported by Kentucky Commissioner of Agriculture James Comer.

The money raised by the program is evenly split between Kentucky 4-H, Kentucky FFA, and Kentucky Proud, which promotes agricultural products raised, grown or processed in Kentucky by Kentuckians.

Last year, the Kentucky 4-H statewide share totaled $121,708.64. The Kentucky 4-H Foundation splits the donations between the county where the funds originated and the 4-H Foundation.

Half of the donations support programs right here in our county, making this a great opportunity for local 4-H councils, clubs and members to increase financial support for their programs. Last year, donations totaled $504.17 for Lincoln County.

The other half of the donations used by the 4-H Foundation will support state level programs that many of our 4-H members participate in and furthers their positive experiences and opportunities for advanced leadership, citizenship, and life-skills development.

Making your voluntary $10 donation is an excellent opportunity for our agricultural community to support the youth of our community and help fund the programs that can make a lasting difference in their lives. Kentucky 4-H gives Kentucky's young people the chance to participate in constructive, educational and fun activities that teach them the value of hard work, discipline and participation.

But the program needs more participation. In 2012, more than two-thirds of Kentuckians who bought or renewed farm plates opted out of making a donation.

Kentucky 4-H has been given a tremendous opportunity by Commissioner Comer to raise significant funds to support 4-H. But the scale of this success will be up to all of us in the 4-H family and how we promote and encourage our friends, alumni, and communities to step up and support 4-H through the voluntary donation.

Please remember to make your voluntary $10 donation when renewing your farm license plates in March. It

Lincoln students can apply for ELI

The Center for Rural Development's Entrepreneurial Leadership Institute (ELI) is accepting applications through March 15 from aspiring high school student entrepreneurs in Lincoln County looking to develop their business and entrepreneurial skills.

The one-week summer youth leadership program is open to high school freshmen, sophomores, and juniors within The Center's 45-county primary service area in Southern and Eastern Kentucky. The institute gives participants an in-depth look at what it takes to start their own business ventures—from the four basic principles of marketing to reading financial statements.

"The purpose of ELI is to build future business leaders and entrepreneurs in our region," said Delaney Stephens, youth programs coordinator and community liaison for The Center. "As program participants, high school students receive the skills they need to start working toward that goal and pursuing their career goals."

ELI focuses on developing creativity, teamwork, and business and leadership skills. At the beginning of the week, participants divide into teams and work together throughout the week on a business concept that can be directly applied to Southern and Eastern Kentucky. The concluding event will be a team competition, where team members pitch their business concepts to a panel of regional business leaders acting as potential investors.

The winning team members of ELI's Business Concept Competition earn scholarship opportunities within the region.

Application forms for the 2013 summer session of ELI are available online and may be downloaded at http://centertech.com/leadership/eli/. All applications must be completed and mailed to The Center for Rural Development, 2292 South U.S. 27, Suite 300, Somerset, Ky., 42501, by the March 15 deadline.

The program is tentatively scheduled for the week of June 9-14. All lodging, meals, and program expenses (with the exception of transportation to and from the program site) are free to participating students.

"ELI gives high school students a unique opportunity to work and learn from some of the region's top business leaders and entrepreneurs," said Stephens. "Participants get to see what it takes to operate a successful business venture, concentrating on all aspects of that business."

For more information on ELI, contact Delaney Stephens at (606) 677-6000 or email youth@centertech.com.

Summer scholarship available for preparation to be counselors

Some Kentucky schools and communities are experiencing a shortage of counselors that is projected to increase. To help meet the need, scholarship assistance is being offered by the Kentucky Counseling Association.

Those interested in becoming school or mental health counselors, and who already possess an undergraduate degree, can get a jump start this summer with help with tuition and textbooks. The association provides grants of $100 for textbooks.

Each of the participating universities, listed below, will provide one tuition waiver (preference will be granted to beginning master's students who have earned less than 15 hours):

•Eastern Kentucky University
•Lindsey Wilson College
•Morehead State University
•Murray State University
•Northern Kentucky University
•University of Louisville
•Western Kentucky University
•Xavier University

Documentation of acceptance by the participating university and a letter of recommendation are required, along with a completed application. The deadline for submitting materials is April 15. Go to the Kentucky Counseling Association's website at www.kyca.org for further information and an application.

Money Tip: Play your cards right

As students become more responsible for paying their own bills, they need to be aware of the types of cards available, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

Debit cards are tied to a bank account. When someone uses a debit card, the money is automatically deducted from the account. Most colleges issue a type of debit card to students that can be used to buy books, supplies and meals. In that case, the card is not tied to a bank account but is preloaded with funds deposited each semester or quarter.

When a debit card has been lost or stolen, report it to the bank or credit union immediately to limit losses from unauthorized use.

Credit cards offer what is essentially an interest-free loan if the balance is paid in full each month. Students who use credit cards should pay them off at the end of each pay period when possible to avoid paying interest fees. Most credit cards also offer cash advance services at a higher interest rate.

Lost or stolen credit cards should also be reported immediately. However, there is a $50 limit to the consumer's liability on fraudulent charges with stolen credit cards.

ATM cards allow users to withdraw cash from their accounts when the bank or credit union is closed. Most banks and credit unions charge a fee when ATM cards are used at a machine not owned by that institution's network, and those fees can add up. Students should not use an ATM card outside their network unless absolutely necessary.

LEGAL NOTICE
Zone Change:
A-I (Agricultural-1) to C/PO
(Commercial/Professional Office)
Allen Byler & Matthew Yoder
5920 KY HWY 643
Waynesburg, Kentucky 40489

Pursuant to an application for a Zone Change filed by Mr. Allen Byler and Mr. Matthew Yoder, 2.98 acres owned by the applicants, who were present, said property being located at 5920 KY HWY 643, Waynesburg. Lincoln County, Kentucky, a Public Hearing was held on Tuesday February 20, 2013 at the hour of 7:00 p.m. at the Lincoln County Courthouse, basement floor in Stanford, Kentucky. A plat of the subject property and list of persons present at said hearing is on file in the office of the Lincoln County /Cedar Creek Planning Commission. The Planning Commission makes the following findings of fact and recommends as follows:

FINDINGS OF FACT

That Allen Byler is the owner of 2.98 acres of real property located within the boundaries of Lincoln County as defined and depicted on the zoning maps for said county. The 2.98-acre tract is currently zoned A-1 (Agricultural-1). That the applicant has applied for an amendment to the official zoning map and they have met all procedural legal requirements under the Zoning Ordinance for said county. The Public Hearing was properly advertised in the local newspaper, a sign was posted on the subject property and letters were mailed to all adjoining property owners.

The evidence presented came from Mr. Allen Byler and Matthew Yoder. Mr. Yoder is the son-in-law of Mr. Allen Byler and is currently under contract for the purchase of said property. They explained how the applicant desires to locate a General Store on said property. Allen Byler explained that the property has been used as a cabinet shop in the past and has a current Conditional Use Permit from the Board of Adjustments for a family owned/operated business on a forty plus acre farm. This restricts the sale of items that are not made on site or in the general vicinity.

Mr. Yoder explained how he desires to operate an Amish General Store that offers products that cannot be produced on said property to include: housewares, utensils, glassware, wagons, packaged foods, spices, etc. He feels this would create tourism.

A Zone Change Plat and a Conceptual Site Plan was submitted and shows how the buildings are existing including the dwelling that will be used for Mr. Yoder's primary residence. An addition to the existing shop building is shown on the Conceptual Site Plan to be available to the public. The woodworking business will remain in the existing shop and will be closed to the public. Mr. Yoder explained how he is aware of the need to obtain a Commercial Building Permit prior to the construction of the addition if approved.

Also presented was a staff report, prepared by Mr. Alan Bowman, County Engineer. The report explained how the 2.98 acres was outside the Cedar Creek Watershed area. The property in the rear of the farm is located inside the Cedar Creek Watershed boundary.

An adjoining property, according to the Property Valuation Administration office and the Occupational Tax Office, has been used for commercial purposes know as Dave's Small Engine Repair. The property located at 6120 KY HWY 643, Waynesburg, KY will be shown as Commercial/Professional Office at the adoption of the new Future Land Use Map that is a work in progress. Photos of the existing buildings and parking were provided by the applicants.

A site plan was approved contingent on the compliance of Section 1050 (Ingress and Egress requirements) of the amended Lincoln County/Cedar Creek Zoning Ordinance that requires the entrance to be fifty feet in width for a length of forty feet. Driveway can then be reduced to no less than twenty feet in width for the remainder of the driveway.

There were several adjoining property owners or property owners in the general vicinity present in support of this request. There were two letters presented from adjoining property owners (David Reynolds and Benny Simpson) who could not attend the public hearing also showing support. Those present are reflected with name and address in the minutes of the meeting and are on file in the office of the Planning Commission.

There were no property owners present to oppose. There was some concern from adjoining property owners regarding the future use of the property via telephone prior to the public hearing.

RECOMMENDATION

The Lincoln County/Cedar Creek Planning Commission, by majority of all those present, (all yeas) does hereby recommend to the Lincoln County Fiscal Court that the Zone Change from A-1 (Agricultural-1) to C/PO (Commercial/Professional Office), for 2.98 acres, as requested by Mr. Allen Byler and Matthew Yoder, as shown on the plat submitted at said public hearing, for property located at 5920 KY HWY 643, Waynesburg, Kentucky be approved due to the commercial use of adjoining property and the existence of the Conditional Use Permit approved by the Board of Adjustments for a woodworking shop. Further, there have been major changes of an economic, physical, or social nature within the area (Cedar Creek Lake) involved which was not anticipated in the adopted comprehensive plan and which have substantially altered the basic character of the area.

WEST JESSAMINE

From B1

Monday, rounded out the trio of Lincoln's double-digit scorers, closing out his high-school career with a double-double of 14 points and 14 rebounds.

"I'm disappointed that we couldn't win for Luke and for Shade," Jackson said. "You want to do it for them, but we just didn't tonight."

It appeared that Lincoln's Hill and Jacobs stood a great chance of seeing their season extended with the Patriots and Colts in a nip-tuck battle the first half.

Hoover drained a 3-point goal to open Lincoln's scoring and take a 3-2 lead, but Fain dropped in three quick goals for West Jessamine to nose the Colts ahead 6-3 two minutes into the first quarter. Back-to-back jumpers by Hill gave the edge back to Lincoln, then Taylor followed with a 3-point bomb for a 10-6 margin midway of the period.

Peters, who was 3-for-3 from 3, hit his first trey to trim West's deficit to 10-9 only to have Neil Conley hit from 3-points out for Lincoln and Hill going inside for a bucket and a 15-9 margin.

Jacob Conway, who finished with eight points and six rebounds, added a bucket in the paint for Lincoln late in the first, but Peters drained his second trey of the night then scored a bucket off a turnover to cut Lincoln's lead to 17-14 after one.

Lincoln's offense struggled in the second quarter, missing its first five shot attempts then turning the ball over four times. West also missed early and turned the ball over, however, Irgang drove inside for a bucket off a turnover then Peters hit for his third 3-point shot to give the Colts a 19-17 edge.

Lincoln went up 21-19 off two Taylor free throws and a Brandon Pittman bucket before Tanner Richards hit to force a 21-all tie. The lead changed hands four more times before the buzzer sounded on the first half, the final change coming with just 13.4 ticks left on the clock when Henderson hit his only 3-point shot of the game to put West Jessamine up 27-25.

"We had a good first half until we gave up that 3 at the end," Jackson said. "That shot seemed like it kind of deflated us. We didn't get out on Henderson like we needed to and he just hit."

Lincoln never regained the lead.

Fain scored West Jessamine's first seven points of the second half, including converting on a three-point play, to jump start the Colts third-quarter surge. Fain added seven more points in the run, Irgang and Peters each had a bucket and Henderson sank two free throws. Ian Kossick chipped in a free throw toss with two minutes showing then followed with a basket to extend the Colt lead to 50-32.

"Fain just kept hitting and they got on a great roll," Jackson said. "They've got a good team, and it's easy for a good team to get on a roll when they don't get guarded. We've got to learn to buy into guarding."

West led by as many as 23 points in the fourth quarter before Lincoln broke on late runs. The Patriots rolled off nine unanswered points to trim the Colts' 23-point lead to 65-51, with Conley hitting a 3-pointer, Hoover going inside for a bucket, Conway sinking two foul shots and Taylor hitting one.

Lincoln went long-range to wage its biggest second-half comeback effort. Taylor ignited the 14-4 run with a jumper and Hill closed it with a goal and a free throw. In between those shots, though, Hoover stepped behind the arc to nail two 3-point shots and Conley drained one to get Lincoln as close as 76-69 with 29.2 seconds to play.

"We did (make late runs), but it shouldn't have got to that," Jackson said. "We can't not be good for 32 minutes. We've got to come out and defend all night and we didn't defend at all the second half."

West Jessamine outrebounded Lincoln 32-29. Taylor had five rebounds for Lincoln and Hoover had four.

Both teams had 12 turnovers.
